Celebration tonight, Thursday

Foothill community residents are invited to this evening's festivities in Kersting Court which mark the 10th year of Jan Reed's owning the Sierra Madre News and Print Shop.

Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce is combining the occasion with a mixer. The News will serve sandwiches, condiments, the anniversary cake and coffee free-of-charge. The chamber will sell liquid refreshments.

Reed purchased the paper 10 years ago from R. Robert Evans who had run the paper for 18 years.

Brooke Brown will provide music in Kersting Court which will be closed to traffic from 4 p.m. throughout the evening for the anniversary party.

September arrests to result in arraignment, charges

Sierra Madre Police Chief Bill Betts reported the followup on the Nielsen, Miekle arrest which ran in the Sept. 20 edition of The News and explained that arraignment is scheduled for mid-October.

"Then they will be formally charged and hearing dates set. Cases at the time of arrest get alot of attention and then the slow process of the court system sets in," Betts said.

Jane Hanne Nielsen and Lawrence Lee Meikle, both of Sierra Madre, were out on bail immediately following their arrest Sept. 13, after a narcotics investigation that lasted over several months.

Nielsen was arrested for possession of cocaine for sale and Meikle was arrested for possession of or sale of cocaine and marijuana.

Betts said, "Substance abuse has a substantial impact on the community. A high percentage of money involved in drug usage is obtained directly from homeowners, renters and auto owners since narcotics users usually obtain money for their habits through burglaries of all of us. Most of these types of crimes support drug habits."

The chief said that everyone worrying about the national debt could look at the drug scene in this way: if all the money used in drug trafficking would be applied to the national debt, we'd be rid of two problems.

"In local cases the quantity of narcotics seized is not discussed until it unfolds in court," Chief Betts said.

The Sierra Madre News will keep the community informed.

'Burned out area' model to be shown Oct. 23

After the Sierra Madre City Council passed an extension of Ordinance No. 1071 for 10 months and 15 days, a moratorium "enacting an interm zoning ordinance" concerning off-street parking districts, they reviewed the schedule of the audit, with a completion date of Nov. 30.

Very quickly they checked the policies and procedures handbook for boards, commissions and committees which restricts these bodies to two terms, effective June 30, 1991, discussed possible code codification, more ordinances dealing with parking permits, recreation vehicles and satellite dishes.

Then they got to the meat of the evening's meeting with the discussion of the "burned out area" of 14 W. Sierra Madre Blvd. through 29 W. Sierra Madre Blvd.

Three property owners are building on four lots which could possibly house five businesses, an area that was burned down in Sierra Madre's historic Dec. 6, 1989 fire.

Councilman Gary Adams voiced his concern about the CRA (the City Council also sits as this body) and its lack of input for the project that is moving to completion. "This project needs to have input by people who live in the city... It seems to me we have a project moving quickly but not developed with the assent of the city."

Councilman Clem Bartolai agreed " with the spirit" of what Adams said but insisted that the prospective building concept "is private enterprise trying to do something but restricted by what committees might impose upon them."

Adams insisted that he had seen hardly anything and agreed with Councilwoman MaryAnn MacGillvray who suggested that someone put together a model.

Helen Elliott, one of the three landowners, said that an original drawing had been placed before the

How to reach service people

By Phyllis Chapman

Vital to our men and women serving in the Army as part of Operation Desert Shield and "happy time" for them is receiving mail. If you would like to write to any of these service people the Army has set up a special mail address system to speed delivery of letters to GIs now operating in Saudi Arabia.

Mail for the seven units now operating there should be addressed with the following New York Army Postal Office numbers:

- 101st Airborne Division: APO New York 90309.
- 82nd Airborne Division: APO New York, 09656.
- 24th Mechanized Infantry Division: APO New York 09315.
- 1st Corps Support Command Fort Bragg: APO New York 09657.
- 197th Infantry Brigade: APO New York 09315.
- 11th Air Defense Artillery Brigade: APO New York 09656.
- 3rd Armored Cavalry Regiment: APO New York 09209.

Any mail sent to soldier's home stations will be directed to their Saudi location, says the Army.

Desert fax service can also be used to reach U.S. military personnel in the Gulf and for free. A quick note, a silly doodle, a clipping from the local paper — these may not seem like much, but to someone far away from home, they can mean a lot.

To do so go to your nearest AT&T Phone Center and pick up an official Desert Fax Form. Put your personal message in the space provided, fill in the necessary information including social security number and APO/FPO and an employee will fax it for you and the person in the Gulf should receive your message within a few days.

The Defense Department has even put together a list of suggested donations you might send. Acceptable items include such practical gear as such visors and such frivolities as Nerf balls and Frisbees. The list is long but there are also Saudi restrictions. It is suggested that you clear what you wish to send through the Defense Logistics Agency's hotline telephone number (703) 274-3561. The agency also requires donors to get items at their own expense to a collection point on the East or West Coast of the United States.

We also suggest participating in Operation Special Invited Guest, SIG, as outlined in last week's News. Anyone wishing to sign a roster at The News office, offering to set a place at the holiday table for one of our special service people in the Gulf area, is urged to do so.

Free hearing test Oct. 18

Free hearing testing for seniors will be held on Thursday, Oct. 18 at the Senior Center in Memorial Park. Testing will begin in 9 a.m. and continue until all are served.

Al King of King's Hearing Aid Center in El Monte will conduct the testing. King regularly provides this service for many of the area's senior centers.

Howko - rescuer, Army man, film star, writer, director

By Phyllis Chapman

The Sierra Madre News was not exactly invaded by the U.S. Army but there was a confrontation. The "incident" resulted from a suggestion in this paper's Sept. 13 "Under the Pepper Tree" column that we "Adopt a Sailor Program."

Army Sgt. Ronald Howko, in military garb and battle ready, appeared at The News office. Heaving a be-medaled chest, Howko confronted the editor and demanded to know why such an adoption program was being limited to just the Navy. After all, there are now at least seven Army units in Saudi Arabia as part of Operation Desert Shield and certainly that many GIs should also be part of any such adoption program.

Fortunately, the whole matter was settled peaceably (world leaders take note!). This Army man was absolutely correct and we have rectified the situation with a separate article in The News giving information about how to contact our troops and also including a wish list of donations that can be sent to our service people.

However, Sgt. Howko was not immediately released by The News. You see, our special information sources revealed that Howko himself would make an interesting news story so he was detained long enough to be interrogated.

Information gathered was that Sgt. Howko has lived in Sierra Madre for 2½ years and is presently Visual Information Chief with Armed Forces Radio and Television Service in Sun Valley. When sent to L.A. he first worked for Bob Matheison, TV manager of that center (see Sierra Madre News, June 28) and it was through Mathieson that he came to live in our town.

Howko has performed a variety of services for the Army during which he has also become a survival specialist but with his training in that field done on a voluntary, non-paying basis. This special survival knowledge made him an excellent candidate and much needed by our Sierra Madre Search and Rescue Team which he joined when he moved here. He has been a very active member of the team. Amazingly, would you believe Howko first heard about Sierra Madre's team when he was stationed in Germany and what a special, unique group it is?

A native of Flint, Mich., he joined the Army active reserves after graduating high school. When General Motors in Flint began their layoffs Howko decided to make the regular Army his career and joined in 1975.

Beginning in the service at Fort Carson in Colorado Springs and with a love of skiing from his childhood in Michigan, he quickly also became involved in the National Ski Patrol. His rescue activities were continued while doing duty at Fort Bragg in North Carolina and then trained further in the mountains all over Europe when stationed in Germany.

His rescue service background has included a broad range, for example, avalanche classes, teaching CPR, earthquake preparedness, jumping out of planes, etc. This rescue training has often been combined with his expertise in writing, directing and filming for the Army which was part of his regular duties.

Some of his filming was also free lance when he worked with CBS "Good Morning, America" at Fort Bragg or with the NBC "Today" show when they did a stint in Germany. He was also involved preparing a program on the Jamestown massacre for the purpose of psychological analysis of those people. In all he has produced and directed over 51 programs.

Sgt. Howko is married, having met his wife, Helen Barrett, in Germany where she worked as an executive secretary in the American Dental facility there. Introduced by friends, it was "love at first sight" says the sergeant. She originally came from County Kerry in Ireland and the couple vacationed there this past summer. Also, the versatile Howko loves to cook. Did I say this was a marriage made in heaven?

The latest medal received by this Army man is a joint service achievement award for an annual world-wide conference for service station managers which he conducts each spring and which requires all year preparation.

Sgt. Ronald Howko

Well, for this time and in this sector, you might say outright war was quickly avoided at The News office. The wonderful outcome of all this was meeting Ron Howko and to know that we have man of his caliber to make us proud as he serves in our U.S. Army and on our Search and Rescue Team.

Newspaper Week

Oct. 17 - 25 is National Newspaper Week. And as background for America's first newspapers, we would like to present the following editorial for all to read. Ed.

Most Americans take for granted that a current newspaper can be had without incurring any major inconveniences. But this was not always the case. In fact, early American journalism experienced the hardships that accompanied early Colonial living — poor communication and distribution systems, difficulty in gathering news and a government that neither trusted nor tolerated published criticism.

In 1690, Benjamin Harris of Massachusetts, published what history records as America's first newspaper, Publick Occurrences Both Foreign and Domestick. The three-page paper measured 6 inches by 9½ inches and was a new concept for Boston. Before Harris' paper, news usually posted on trees and poles informed residents of the latest events. Hovever, this news was often inaccurate, and Harris hoped his paper would help avoid false reports.

Although Publick Occurrences was a more efficient tool for disseminating information, the first issue proved to be the last. The Massachusetts governor and council issued an order of suppression to outlaw the tabloid. According to the officials, Harris violated a law that restricted the distribution of any publication without a license.

In reality, the officials were distressed because the newspaper threatened their strict control of information. They were upset by Harris' printing of his views on the immoralities of the king of France and the barbarous treatment of some French captives by Indian allies of the English during the French and Indian War.

John Campbell picked up where Harris left off 14 years later when he founded the Boston News-Letter. The News-Letter, a weekly newspaper which commenced publication on Apr. 24, 1704, lays claim to several "firsts" in American journalism. It was the first newspaper to be "published by authority"; to receive and use erroneous information from a news source; to use correspondents to gather the news; to sell subscriptions; to offer home delivery; and to use house ads (publisher's ads).

In 1732, Ben Franklin published the first foreign language American newspaper, the Philadelphia Zeitung, which was published in German. And in 1759, Ann Franklin, wife of John Franklin, became the first woman to edit a newspaper in the Colonies. She worked with the Newport (Rhode Island) Mercury, the oldest paper in America still published under its original name.

Journalism in America has taken on many faces since the first newspapers were established. And today there are more than 8200 newspapers published nationwide.

Under the Pepper Tree

by Jan Reed

● There are so many things to say to so many people about our anniversary and I'm always afraid I will omit someone who has participated so graciously in keeping the Sierra Madre News and Print Shop intact.

Someone asked me this week how I could spend so many hours at work without being a little resentful and, of course, the answer is that I really do love the work. And the people I'm constantly in touch with make such a difference in my life.

Running a paper and print shop makes me feel that I am putting something back into the world. I am doing something that needs doing. And when we are lucky enough to be complimented on something we have done — well, that's the frosting on the cake.

● I always must include in my annual anniversary reporting the news that probably moves me the most.

When the paper was really having such great financial troubles that it looked like we may not survive, the community was behind us in the wink of an eye. They really didn't know me — they had only known me for two years. And yet they were willing to put their money on the line in the name of their Sierra Madre News.

Limited partners came forth eagerly and that help is what the doctor ordered. We began to get "well." Then, after I did not only all the writing and the other work entailed in running a paper, but also sellling all the advertising, we actually broke even. All of the money which would have gone into salaries of those workers I replaced was plowed back into the paper and it worked.

But it wasn't only the limited partners who kept the paper going. During the early morning hours I would find bills of all denominations dropped through the slot in the door. Most of the gifts were anonymous and some came in the form of checks on a regular basis. Then there were the encouraging and loving messages.

● As I write about this each year and share it with others, I am so moved by the great generosity of this town and of those others "out there" who decided to do something about keeping the paper going.

I applaud you all and you should applaud yourselves. You and I are both blessed.

● Among those who "work" for the paper, receiving no remuneration, are Jan Maddox, Phyllis Chapman, Ashleigh Katz, Dick Rogers, Ron Hutson, both the police and fire departments and their blotters, Mary Cogswell Baum, people who represent various clubs and organizations besides the library in town, all the pastors who provide information about their churches and the many, many unnamed people who are so quick to give me helpful information.

● We have received countless advertisements, letters, notes, cards, bouquets, balloons, plants — even a beautiful holiday gown — and other gifts this week. Each of you has received a personal thank you but I must also thank you all in this printed space.

● As I write this, I realize that no adversity can sweep away this newspaper because it has been through the valley, so to speak. Now it is a matter of sticking to what we believe in and doing our best. And we can survive anything.

● I thank you all from the heart of hearts.

● On to other things in the Pepper Tree Column, Miner Harkness observed his 35th birthday . . . again. It was celebrated with a singing telegram. Miner begged the vocalist to stop singing or he'd never make it to another 35. Our congratulations, Miner.

● Millie Soloury will be sending her usual Halloween candy to Saudi Arabia to some of our service people and she is getting the word around her neighborhood that there won't be any sweets on her porch this year. They will all be in Saudi Arabia, sweetening up our kids "over there."

Isn't that a great idea? We might all adopt Millie's idea.

● Now that we have a granddog, Mischief, I am running into so many people who say, "You don't have to think you're so smart with a granddog. I have one, too."

The latest one to achieve that high honor is JoAnn Scott, our Arcadia and sports editor, whose son, an unmarried college man, just purchased a great dog.

Join the league. It's lots of fun.

● In an earlier column, I mentioned that we save stamps for Bette Jetter and I don't know what she does with them but I'm sure it's philanthropic.

She called to tell us that city hall saves stamps, too, and she gives them to "a lady Elk in Pasadena" who gives them to the Pasadena Elks Club. From there they are given to crippled children in hospitals who put them together into booklets.

Thanks for Sierra Madre

So much is going on in this wonderful little town of Sierra Madre. A week ago there was the terrific Mariposa parking lot party. This past Saturday the Fire Festival. The time of the festival from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. was just full of vital information and demonstrations for kids and adults alike as well as much fun, excitement and the best barbecued hot dogs anywhere.

"We had a blast, Gramma," to quote one of my granddaughters (no pun intended, of course).

Chief Ed Tracy and our fire department did a super job in providing so much that was valuable and great fun, too.

We can just thank our lucky stars here for all the people who do all that they can do to keep Sierra Madre perking.

About those taxes...

I don't think the average person like me understand what's really going on with the taxes and propositions.

I buy a six-pack of Bud at my local 7-11, about once a week. The cost ranges from $3.25 to $3.85 for the six-pack. I called the people at Bud in Fairfield to find out how beer is priced. After several transfers, I was told that all U.S. breweries and wineries pay a tax to both the Federal and state government. This tax is then passed on to a company that buys the beer and distributes it. This company then passes on the tax, with markup, to my 7-11. The 7-11 then passes the tax on to me. I buy the six-pack of Bud and pay about 60 cents as a result of all these different people handling the beer. (The people at the brewery say the tax on a six-pack of an imported beer is lower because they don't have as many "tiers" of markup.)

Now, with the proposed tax from Prop 134 and the Federal tax as proposed by our Read-My-Lips President, the six-pack of beer will be taxed at a higher rate and paid for by the brewery who will then start it on its way through the markup tiers, until it reaches me at the 7-11. I will be asked to pay an extra $3 for my six-pack of Bud. That sure ain't no nickle-a-drink! My weekly six-pack will cost up to $6.85.

I think the vast majority of people who drink beer are like me. I'm not a drunk driver or a child molestor. I just like to have a nice can of beer at night. But I don't want to pay through the nose for it. We have to contact our senators and representatives and the president to tell them to stop. We have to get to the polls and vote no on Prop. 134. Tell your friends.

Out and About

By Dick Rogers

Boy, am I bummed out. My one and only employee just up and quits . . . boom . . . just like that. He left a note on the windshield of my truck. Geez. Well, maybe I'm overreacting a bit. Let me tell you how it happened and you be the judge.

I have three little terriers, nice little guys, but even nice little guys generate by-products . . . a lot of them, so there was a need there. It came to pass that my neighbor bought a small dog for her son. In that he had to look after the pup, as part and parcel of getting him I'd say, her son got to figuring. Hey, if I have to clean up my dog's doo-doos, maybe I can get my neighbor to let me clean up his dogs' doo-doos for a price.

So here's this little guy at my door offering his services. I play the role a bit, pretending I don't need him (and I'm saying to myself "Is this a dream?"). We agree on a price and a schedule. Twice a week for five bucks.

What's that you say? Wait a minute. If you figure it takes him about 20 minutes to gather those little things, that's about 40 minutes a week . . . that's about $7.50 an hour. That's pretty good for an 8-year-old.

It lasted two weeks. He gave his notice. Sort of a formal notice . . . had a nice touch. Here it is: "Dear Mr. Rogers — Thank you for employing me but it is too disgusting. One dog is enough but four dogs are simply too much. Your friend, (his name).

Rather simple and to the point, I'd say.

My wife, who has fairly complex employee problems, loved the direct and forthright approach this boy took. She shared the note with some co-workers. They took copies for use when they are in need of such a letter.

As for me, I'm wondering about the value of a buck and how I can con someone else into doing this disgusting work. Out and about with a shovel and rake. Yeeech!

Free concert Oct. 13

La Salle students adopt Gulf ship

The students of La Salle High School in Pasadena have adopted the command ship in the Persian Gulf, the USS LaSalle.

They will express their solidarity with the young people serving in the Gulf and will pray for their well-being and safe return to the United States.

The students will present a poster to the Captain of the USS La Salle (through the Navy representative)

This presentation will be made at a school assembly on Friday, Oct. 12, at 11:30 a.m. in the school gymnasium.

The students will also send a card to recent graduates serving in the Gulf.

Brown program on bats

Caroline Brown, a Sierra Madre resident and a member of Bats Conservation International, will present a slide program on "America's Neighborhood Bats" on Oct. 17 at 7:30 p.m. at the Sierra Madre Public Library. Admission is free.

Most people only think of bats as part of the horror of Halloween and do not realize the benefits of them. Bats are nature's environmentally sound insect control, eating their body weight in mosquitos and other insects in an average evening feeding. Various species of bats pollinate tropical fruit crops and night blooming cacti. Interestingly enough, the bat species makes up to 25 percent of all mammalian species worldwide.

Along with learning about bats, the slide show will also help the concerned homeowner learn how to safely and humanely encourage bats to leave one roosting area and relocate in another. A bat house will be on display as well as information on the Bats Conservation International organization.

The Sierra Madre Public Library is located at 440 W. Sierra Madre Blvd., Sierra Madre. For more information, please call the library at 355-7186 during open hours.

For Book Lovers

Loretta Mansill

"The deepest secret in our heart of hearts is that we are writing because we love the world, and why not finally carry that secret out with our bodies into the living rooms and porches, backyards and grocery stores? Let the whole thing flower: the poem and the person writing the poem. And let us always be kind in the world."

This passionate and true statement is made by Natalie Goldberg in her book, "Writing Down the Bones," published by Shambhala Press in 1986. It is one more how-to book, subtitled "Freeing the Writer Within," but it lives up to its subtitle and is as unique as its author, an independent, loving, giving, creattive river of a woman passing on the marrow of her life and process as a writer.

She has gleaned from her experience as a writer and teacher of writing, how to mine for the golden nuggets of inspiration and discipline and courage that put words on a page to express the love for the things around us and reach beyond our encapsulated bodies, shake others by the shoulders and say, "Look, Look! How wonderful is this life!"

"A writer's job," she says, "is to make the ordinary come alive, to awaken ourselves to the specialness of being."

It is said that writing is 10 percent inspiration and 90 percent perspiration; in her book, Natalie Goldberg offers her insights and transforms them into methods and ways of living that can help the writer to work up a good sweat.

"Basically, if you want to become a good writer, you need to do three things: read alot, listen well and deeply, and write alot. And don't think too much. Just enter the heat of words and sounds and colored sensations and keep your pen moving across the page," Goldberg writes.

So? A lot of books might tell you that. But if there's a special edge this book has over those other books, it is the enthusiasm, excitement and passion for moving the pen across the page that Goldberg so obviously has and communicates exquisitely. It passes the best test for an effective how-to book: while reading it, I was constantly wanting to put it down and "pick up my tools" (pen, paper). It is not a book that will lull you into procrastination and dreamy thoughts of "wouldn't it be nice if . . ." and "well, that's all well and good for you dear . . ."

"Writing Down the Bones" inspires you to "free the writer within" as you put down the book and go on to "do it yourself."

MAIN STREET
By Ron Hutson

Just to say Happy Anniversary, or Congratulations on your 10th birthday doesn't seem near enough. The Sierra Madre business community, indeed the entire community, is fortunate to have such a dedicated editor/owner and staff at the helm of our local newspaper.

Two-and-a-half years ago I met Editor Jan Reed. She was an original Main Street Steering Committee member charged with getting the Main Street program launched. It took me about 30 seconds to realize here was a lady dedicated to her community, a newspaper editor that believes so strongly in its businesses and people that it was scary. I've dealt with a lot of newspaper people in my career, but never an editor/owner so positively committed to making her town the best it can be.

While I've not rummaged around in the archives, I'm confident The News has supported Sierra Madre causes, and particularly those of the Chamber of Commerce, since it first published in 1906. Front page, banner, picture and story inches must total in the thousands by now.

Open your News before or after any community event. You will find at least one story promoting or recapping the occasion, and lots of pictures.

The News is Sierra Madre. The entire staff works at putting out a paper Sierra Madreans can call their own. No national or international stuff to get in the way. Personally, I'm amazed at the representative coverage filling The News' pages week after week.

My editor is not comfortable in the spotlight. But this week, she will be proudly pointing to flower arrangements, cards and letters congratulating The News on the celebration of its 10th Anniversary. And the staff will be walking with an extra spring in their step. Their smiles will be a bit broader. You might say their company pride will be on display.

Our Chamber of Commerce and Main Street volunteers join in saluting editor/owner Jan Reed and the Sierra Madre News staff for 10 outstanding years of community service. We invite you to join us "Under the Pepper Tree" on Thursday evening, Oct. 11 at the Chamber mixer celebrating the 10th Anniversary of the Sierra Madre News and Print Shop.

Contact Main Street, c/o Ron Hutson, 232 W. Sierra Madre Blvd., Sierra Madre, CA 91024. See you on Main Street.

To See, Or Not To See

Narrow Margin — Gene Hackman, Anne Archer

See. It's an enjoyable, light thriller. Usually I'm not too terribly fond of films that have nothing new or inventive to offer, but this one has GENE HACKMAN in it, so you're gonna get your money's worth.

Pasadena Pacific Hastings, Pasadena Marketplace.

Henry & June, — Fred Ward, Uma Thurman, Maria de Medeiros

See! Artistic and sensual, subtly hilarious, this true story transports you into another era, another plan of existence where those with a lust for life, etc., confront destiny. Kind piques one's interest in certain literature.

Our apologies . . .

The Sierra Madre News identified the horse mock-up shown at last week's Mariposa Lot party incorrectly. The person standing behind the horse, that was part of Century 21 Village Realty's competition entrance, is Glenda Andrews.

The horse was depicted by Tom Andrews and Mike Lepore, the latter who is manager of the Sierra Madre office.

We regret that our error has caused anyone embarrassment and we apologize. Ed.

"DAR Day" Celebrated by Alhambra - San Gabriel Chapter, NSDAR during Centennial Commemoration.

At the opening night of the NSDAR CENNTENNIAL Ninety-ninth Continental Congress, 1990, 4,000 members and guests were in attendance. The entrance march was played by the United States Marine Band as the, PRESIDENT GENERAL, MRS. ELDRED M. YOCHIM, and National Officers, escorted by the Pages with the Flag of the United States of America, the DAR Banner, and State Flags entered the hall. As the President General approached the center of the hall, the Flag of the United States of America was unfurled from the ceiling and floated downward and outward above her.

Mrs. John D. Hanley, CENNTENNIAL CALIFORNIA STATE REGENT, NSDAR and the HON. R. L. MOUNTJOY, CALIFORNIA STATE ASSEMBLYMAN, who were honored during the CENNTENNIAL YEAR for their OUTSTANDING PATRIOTISM AND NOTABLE SERVICE TO COMMUNITY AND NATION, IN BEHALF OF OUR AMERICAN PRINCIPLES, by Alhambra-San Gabriel Chapter, NSDAR.

Mrs. George Ramirez, Centennial Chapter Regent, Alhambra-San Gabriel, NSDAR.

Mrs. Mary Burkin as "CLARA BARTON".

CONGRESS PROCLAIMS "DAR DAY"

By Resolution of the United States Congress, October 11, 1990, is proclaimed "DAR Day." The NSDAR is celebrating a Century of Service to the Nation 1890-1990.

Alhambra-San Gabriel Chapter, California State Society of the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution, will celebrate " DAR Day," at the home of Regent, Mrs. George Ramirez in Chapman Woods, at 11:30 A.M., Thursday, October 11, 1990. Luncheon will be followed by a business meeting. The Program Speaker is Mrs. Mary Burkin, Professional Actress, portraying CLARA BARTON. Mrs. Burkin has been performing her own shows from San Antonio to Honolulu for the past five years, as well as appearing in television shows and commercials. She is the winner of a Drama-Logue Award for Playwriting, and holds a B.A. from USC and a M.A. in Theatre Arts from CSULB.

Mrs. Mark T. Nevill, Centennial Chairman, arranged for the speaker and obtained Mayoral Proclaimations for the event.

There were 818 members enrolled in the first year as Charter Members in the NSDAR. Among them were CLARA BARTON, founder of the AMERICAN RED CROSS. "I know you will adopt (the RED CROSS). The heart of the American people will lead them to promote any cause that has as its object, the benefit of mankind," stated CLARA BARTON.

Mrs. Barton was petite, feminine, shy and vulnerable. Could this be the same woman who...

...Opened the first free public school in New Jersey.

...Was the most beloved and celebrated heroine of the Civil War.

...Raised the flag over Arlington National Cemetary.

"Part of the Cenntennial effort is to locate and identify all members who are direct descendants of the original 818 charters members," states Mrs. George Ramirez, Regent, Alhambra-San Gabriel Chapter, NSDAR.

The DAR OBJECTIVES ARE: Historic Preservation, Promotion of Education and Patriotic Endeavor. DAR MOTTO: God, Home and Country.

Religion & Community

Congregational

Services at Sierra Madre Congregational Church are at 8:15, 9:45 and 11:15 a.m. this Sunday.

October is Missions Month. This Sunday, Bob Culver from International Students, Inc. from Atlanta, Georgia will be our guest speaker. He is the Southeast Regional Director if ISI and has a deep compassion for Internationals here in America. He will be speaking from Isaiah 56. His sermon title is "A House for All Nations." There will also be an International Fair during the morning with internationals participating from countries of the world.

In our evening service at 6 p.m., we will feature a Global Concert of Prayer. Various members of our congregation will be leading us in prayer for Central and South America, Europe, Asia, Africa and the Middle East.

Gloria Dei

Our speaker for next Sunday at Gloria Dei Evangelical Lutheran Church on 186 W. Highland Ave. in Sierra Madre is Pastor Paul Schmiege of Pomona. Sunday School will follow. We invite you to be our guests.

Someone complained, "I'm not getting much out of reading the Bible." She was answered, "That's more of a commentary on you than on the Bible."

United Methodist

By Rev. Rich LaShure

The Sierra Madre United Methodist Foundation has made it possible for the church to computerize its office.

Attendance data, membership information, address labels and administrative divisions will be stored on the computer. Accounts receivable and payable will also be recorded there. The church is using UMIS or United Methodist Information System software with a 386-series hardware series that includes 130 megabyte storage capacity on hard disk.

Mark Smiley, a member of Holliston United Methodist Church in Pasadena, is working as computer consultant for Sierra Madre U.M.C. He represents Cannon Data Systems, Inc.

Donna Beal, administrative secretary, will be the principal computer operator.

Just because a church has a computer does not mean that its members and friends are "only numbers." We see the computer as a tool to deliver more effective, personal service to people. If it does not work this way then we will go back to the old way. Come to church this Sunday and find a friend!

St. Rita's

Week of Prayer for Unity

Although the week will be nearly over by the time you read this, the week of Oct. 7 - 13 has been set aside as a time for prayer and fasting in a nationwide campaign of prayer "to unite all faiths now and in the future, here and abroad, in an ongoing effort to offer reparation for sin everywhere and to obtain mercy from God." So join your prayers and sacrifices with the millions across the country who are praying for the conversion of hearts to God and an end to all-pervasive contempt for God's laws.

October devotions

On each Wednesday of October there will be a Rosary and Benediction in the church at 7:30 p.m.

Lector workshop

A workshop will be held in the church on Sunday, Oct. 28 from 1:15 to 2:15 p.m. All lectors on the current roster are asked to attend. Anyone interested in becoming part of this ministry is most welcome.

Confirmation class news

The first class of Group I will be meeting on Sunday, Oct. 21 at 9 a.m. in the PAC Hall. Also, the first Search Retreat of the year is scheduled for Oct. 12 - 14. Any parents who are interested in getting involved as small group discussion leaders are invited to come to the Confirmation Team Meeting for Group I on Tuesday, Oct. 16, at 7:30 p.m. in the CCD office in PAC Hall. Call Bernadette Palla at 355-1758 for details. More volunteers are also needed for Group II.

Apples for the students

Please save and turn in your register tapes from Vons or Vons Pavilions to the St. Rita School Office. The more register tapes you (yours friends, relatives, etc.) send in, the more Apple Computers and software Vons will send to St. Rita School for the beautiful new computer lab.

Bethany

By Al Elby

Fanaticism seems to have become more prevalent these past two decades. We see it manifesting itself in all walks of life, from the terrorist that blows up a plane to the religious fanatics who expound a man-sulpted theology. Our pastor was pointing out the dangers of such misguided extremism. Fanaticism takes hold of a person and completely distorts his value system. Clyde said it was incumbent upon us to recognize this ailment in order to position ourselves to deal with it effectively.

Pastor gave us seven signs that would help single out the fanatic:
1. Fanatics just think in terms of black and white and don't see the gray. 2. A fanatic is quite willing to hand over his right to think for himself to someone or something else. 3. Fanatics breed excessively judgmental attitudes. Their judgments are usually negative and destructive. 4. Fanatics isolate themselves from others. Because of their intolerance they are only comfortable with those who think as they do.

Also, going on, 5: Fanatics cage themselves in a specific theological system. 6. You will find that when a person becomes fanatic he'll experience a tremendous personality change. 7. Fanatics view that the suffering and abuse that they receive is the cross that they must bear for doing what they "know" to be right.

So here are seven marvelous benchmarks whereby you can recognize fanaticism. Cache them in your mind because you never know when you'll need them.

Huntington Hotel needs artifacts

Historic art and artifacts are being sought for The Huntington Hotel Museum, to be opened in the retail arcade of The Ritz-Carlton, Huntington Hotel, in early 1991.

The museum will include memorabilia from throughout the 84-year history of the hotel, which began as the Hotel Wentworth in 1907 and reopened as the Huntington Hotel in 1914.

The types of materials sought for the museum collection include objects imprinted with the hotel's name or log, objects used in the hotel, photographs, post cards, brochures, manuscripts, letters, diaries and other keepsakes related to the hotel.

The museum will be maintained by the Pasadena Historical Society, drawing from its Huntington Hotel Collection. Donations will be tax deductible. Anyone interested in preserving the memory of the hotel through this museum can contact the Pasadena Historical Society, 470 W. Walnut St., Pasadena, CA 91103, (818) 577-1660.

The museum will be a part of a collection of fine shops at the historic carriage house at The Ritz-Carlton, Huntington Hotel. The retail stores will serve both hotel guests and shoppers from the surrounding Pasadena and San Marino neighborhoods.

About half of the 10,000 square feet of retail space has already been leased. Inquiries on the remaining retail space should be directed to Al Grazioli, Gemtel Corp, 1401 S. Oak Knoll Ave., Pasadena, CA 91106 or by calling (213) 681-1155.

The Carriage House was said to be the world's largest automobile garage earlier in the century. The "machines" were parked on the first floor and their drivers were housed in small cell-like rooms in the living area on the second floor. The Carriage House was preserved and renovated to be part of the soon-to-be re-opened Ritz-Carlton, Huntington Hotel.

'Burned out area' model

City Council "many times going back to the previous council. For 10 months we've been going over the same plans...This is the heart of downtown and hopefully the beginning of downtown... We cannot collect any insurance until we've started building. Our loss collectively is $75,000 and we have a year to begin construction. The year is up Dec. 6, 1990."

Mayor Pro Tem Andrew Roy Buchan said that he had faith in the Design Review Council and added, "We're establishing precedent. Is the city prepared to go further (with financing)? I think the design is in good hands; however, I don't know of we have the funds to redevelop every building in town."

City Administrator Jim McRea announced that a model would be shown in city hall for the Oct. 23 City Council meeting.

Fred Crockett, another landowner and prospective builder, said, "We're under a time constraint now. We're coming' way late in the process if we're talking about redesigning the project."

Adams answered,"It is my understanding that if the City Council looks at the plans and turns them down, they pay for the plans."

Elliott noted that the only opening to Mariposa parking lot is at Renaissance Plaza and said, "We are also giving the city a 16-foot easement in back to get ingress and egress to connect to Mariposa."

The model will be shown, as McRea said, at the Oct. 23 City Council meeting.

Mountjoy urges everyone to write to service people

Assemblyman Dick Mountjoy (R-Monrovia) is urging his constituents in the 42nd Assembly District, and other Californians, to join him and other governmental officials in writing letters to our service men and women stationed in Saudi Arabia and the Persian Gulf.

"This project, which has been dubbed "Operation Desert Letters,' will let those brave young people who are serving us in that hostile environment know that we care, that they are important to us, and that we shall not forget them," Mountjoy said.

Mountjoy went on to say that he hopes youth groups, school children, community service organizations, church members, and individual citizens will write letters, which should be addressed as follows: Armed forces on the Ground, Any Service Member, Operation Desert Shield, APO, New York, 00840-0006. Or, write to: Armed Forces on Ships, Any Service Member, Opeation Desert Shield, FPO, New York 09866-0006.

"I want to stress that expressing personal, heartfelt pride in the soldier or sailor, together with a small paragraph or two of non - controversial 'newsy' items of your area, would be appreciated," Mountjoy said.

The following guidelines for writing to the addresses mentioned above have been established by the United States Postal Service: 1) Mail should be sent First Class and weigh no more than 12 ounces; 2) No alcoholic beverages, religious materials, firearms, or material involving nudity or erotic literature may be sent.

"I hope those guidelines are of help to you as you prepare your letters, and I think they are very simple and easy to conform to. Everyone can easily participate in this important, patriotic letter-writing project," Mountjoy concluded.

On Stage

By Mary Cogswell Baum

Wouldn't you know it! I go off to a conference in New York, which happens once in a dark blue moon, and everybody begins a new show. Well, not everybody, but just count them.

Current L.A. blockbuster, opening Oct. 10 at the Schubert, way off in Century City, is "Jerome Robbins' Broadway," direct from New York, where it won six Tony Awards (Broadway's Oscars). It is symptomatic of the current lack of truly memorable musicals that this pistache of songs and dances from previous musicals outdid anything current at the time. Jerome Robbins is one of the century's great choreographers and this tribute to him includes dances from "On the Town, "Billion Dollar Baby," "High Button Shoes," "Miss Liberty," "Call Me Madam," "The King and I" (remember "The Small House of Uncle Thomas"?), "Peter Pan" (the Mary Martin version), "West Side Story," "Gypsy," "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" and "Fiddler on the Roof." Although not all these musicals are equally immortal, every production since they debuted has tried to give at least an impression of the Robbins choreography. This is a chance to see the old master at his best. It is unfortunately quite true that they don't make 'em like they used to.

Those of you lucky enough to have a subscription to the Ahmanson-at-the-Doolittle season get this show as part of the package. It's not too late to subscribe to this prestigious series. Call (213) 972-7337.

Or if you want single tickets, pick them up at the Schubert box office or charge them at 1-800-233-3123.

Or perhaps you'd like to see the whole of "West Side Story." The San Gabriel Valley Civic Light Opera opens their production of this classic on Oct. 12. "West Side Story" depends on its dancing to carry much of the plot and most of the mood, and if anybody can give you an approximation of the original thrill it should be Rikki Lugo, a star among the excellent staff at the SGVCLO. The tale of gang warfare and racial prejudice in New York in the '50s is mild compared to some of the news stories today, but no less harrowing to the characters involved, and its almost scene-for-scene parallel to Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet" updates the bittersweet romance so successfully that many schools study the two side by side.

On top of that, the combination of Leonard Bernstein's music and Steven Sondheim's lyrics is one of the most perfect collaborations in the music drama. This is a landmark musical and SGVCLO has the resources and expertise to give it an exciting production.

* * *

Another classic, popular enough to have the world's record for continuous performances, is "The Fantastiks," a little jewel of a musical that has been running in New York for 33 years. The West Covina Playhouse, noted for solid productions recently, is presenting this one starting on Oct. 12 for a four weekend run with matinees on Sunday at 2 p.m. "The Fantastiks" concerns two men who are friends and want their son and daughter to fall in love. They decide, in a very funny song, "Why Did the Children Put Beans in their Ears?" that they did it because their parents forbade it, and so the surest way to kindle this romance would be to start a family feud. The theme is love and romance and growing up and reality, and it is gentle and true and altogether lovable. "Try to Remember" its best known song.

The West Covina Playhouse is popular and inexpensive ($8, seniors $7) so make reservations early at (818) 814-9694.

Also opening Oct. 12 is Serendipity Theater at the Coronet Theater, 366 N. La Cienega (does anybody remember Turnabout Theater played there?). More about them later. But they are a family-oriented theater "dedicated to the concept of age-appropriate casting" and their first production is a dramatization of "Tales of a Fourth Grade Nothing," by Judy Blume, queen of the writers for ages 10 to 18. Their phone number is (213) 652-9199, and their whole season of six plays costs only $50.

* * *

Still another classic opening on Oct. 12 is the Monrovia Center Theater production of Tennessee Williams' "A Streetcar Named Desire." This is the steamy Southern drama that introduced Marlon Brando to the world. You can't fault the Monrovia group for lack of ambition. Their phone number is 303-9521.

Claremont tour set for Oct 14

Four distinctive architect designed houses on Tenth Street, one of Claremont's most beautiful streets, will be featured at the annual Claremont Heritage home tour, Sunday, Oct. 14 from 1 to 5 p.m.

These homes were build during the 1920s and 1930s and have been beautifully maintained. They reflect a variety of architectural styles. One is a perfect "Monterey in miniature" by architect Helen Wren, another a stunning glass, wood and brick home built in the 1930s for internationally famous California artist, Milford Zornes. A third house was a recent designer showcase home.

Refreshments are included in the price of admission. Tickets are $8 if purchased in advance and $10 on the day of the tour. For advance purchase send checks to Claremont Heritage, P.O. Box 742, Claremont, CA 91711. Tickets may be purchased on the day of the tour at 472 W. Tenth St. For additional information call Claremont Heritage at (714) 621-0848 from 9 to noon Monday through Friday.

Quilt auction Oct. 13

Nearly 80 quilts were judged and 24 awards presented recently as Wandering Foot Quilt Guild prepared for its fourth annual Mini-quilt Auction to be held on Oct. 13 at Sierra Madre United Methodist Church.

Marge Eakins of La Puente took top honors in the competition, winning both Best of Show and Viewers' Choice awards. She also took first place in the appliqued / pieced category. Her quilt was the "Carolina Lily" pattern.

Eakins is a professional quilter, having taught quiltmaking at Temple City High School in the adult school program for 13 years. She has been involved in quiltmaking for 16 years, she said.

Other first place winners included Mary Johnson of Fawnskin, Calif. in the 15" or less category, Barbara Otzinger of Glendora for pieced quilts 15 or more, Roberta Ross for appliqued, Carolyn Snyder of Sierra Madre for quilted only and Virginia Dixon of Azusa in the miscellaneous category.

Deserving special mention is Shirley Carlson of Arcadia, who submitted eight quilts for the auction and won five awards. She took two second-place awards, one third place and two honorable mentions.

Carolyn Snyder of Sierra Madre also submitted eight quilts and won first and second place awards in the quilted only category.

The only other winner of more than one award was Betty Gagne of Sierra Madre, who won two third-place awards.

The 24 award-winning quilts and over 55 others will be auctioned on Oct. 13 at Sierra Madre United Methodist Church, 695 W. Sierra Madre Blvd. in Sierra Madre, at Michillinda Ave. The doors will open at noon for viewing of the quilts. The auction will begin at 1 p.m.

Church of Ascension 'blessing'

A tiny snake was not forgotten by Father Michael Bamberger's blessing at Sunday's "Blessing of the Animals"

BOBBY GETS SPECIAL BLESSING — Mrs. Kelterborn's 16-year old dog, Bobby, received special attention at the "Blessing of the Animals" at Church of the Ascension Sunday. He is a lovely old man who only eats baby food these days. Rector Michael Bamberger gave him the blessing and a loving pat as did a nearby child. Bobby has been blessed every year of his life.

Two lucky cats receive special St. Francis of Assisi blessings . . .

Local church blesses animals

"Please, Father, bless my special dog." And he did.

Many children bring hamsters, fish, mice, guinea pigs for special blessings from Father Michael Bamberger at Church of the Ascension "Blessing of Animals" Sunday morning.

Bowled over by her friendly child and her dog, this woman sought blessings for both.

ASSIST WITH BLESSING — A choirmaster and assistant flank Father Michael Bamberger at Sunday's "Blessing of the Animals" at Church of the Ascension in Sierra Madre. The News has covered the event for 10 years through the rectorship of Father Behm, also.

Hospital states abortion policy

Through its board of directors, Methodist Hospital in Arcadia adopted last week the official statement of the United Methodist Church on the subject of abortion as its philosophical guideline. That statement is: "The beginning of life and the ending of life are the God-given boundaries of human existence. While individuals have always had some degree of control over when they would die, they now have the awesome power to determine when and even whether new individuals will be born. Our belief in the sanctity of unborn human life makes us reluctant to approve abortion. But we are equally bound to respect the sacredness of the life and well-being of the mother, for whom devastating damage may result from an unacceptable pregnancy."

Continuing, the statement goes on, "In continuity with past Christian teaching, we recognize tragic conflicts of life with life that may justify abortion, and in such cases support the legal option of abortion under proper medical procedures. We cannot affirm abortion as an acceptable means of birth control, and we unconditionally reject it as a means of gender selection. We call all Christians to a searching and prayerful inquiry into the sorts of conditions that may warrant abortion. Governmental laws and regulations do not provide all the guidance required by the informed Christian conscience. Therefore, a decision concerning abortion should be made only after thoughtful and prayerful consideration by the parties involved, with medical, pastoral and other appropriate counsel."

While this statement addresses the Christian conscience, it is not meant to exclude other religions and philosophical positions, according to a public statement prepared by the hospital which also pointed out that the hospital believes in the rights of individuals to have personal convictions about abortion and in the right of individuals and groups to voice their opinions.

Medical abortions are performed at Methodist Hospital for women who have, in conjunction with their physician, made this difficult decision. As a community hospital serving diverse people, the hospital supports each individual patient's decision concerning abortion within certain philosophical, medical and legal boundaries.

The patient's physician provides support and counseling to all patients who are struggling with this issue. The hospital's Chaplaincy Department and Ethics Committee are available to consult with physicians and patients and their families in identifying alternatives that best express their personal beliefs and values.

Supt. Towner gives education update

Dr. Terry Towner, superintendent of the Arcadia Unified School District, gave an education update when he was the guest speaker at the Arcadia Community Coordinating Council last week.

He talked about enrollment which is just shy of 8000, coming back from a low of 7400. Projections have the district peaking at 8800 in 1994-95. Making for "interesting changes," according to Towner, is the fact that one of two students will be of ethnic origin in two years. Currently, 10 percent are non- or limited - English speaking.

Sacramento impact on education has not been favorable in this, an election year, as the governor and superintendent of public instruction continue to differ, explained Towner.

SB 2557 gives county tax assessors the authority to charge school districts for collecting education funds. If the AUSD is charged for one year, it would cost the district $180,000 and drop the cost of living increase for teacher salaries from three percent to 2.3 percent. If the district is charged for two years, an estimated $360,000, the COLA would be reduced to 1.64 percent.

Lottery money has accounted for approximately three percent of the district's budget; however, lottery participation is down, which could affect Arcadia's revenue, according to the superintendent.

He talked about some "exciting" things happening in Arcadia, namely test scores which continue to go up and a five-year, $1.3 million program for educational technology. This year $300,000 has been earmarked to put more technology in the schools. In that direction, Arcadia Educational Foundation's mission statement supports the educational technology program which will find teacher training and more computer education. "Our kids have to be competitive," said Towner.

The AUSD has focused on site-based management with administrators, teachers and parents accepting responsibility for the integral and meaningful involvement in determining the direction schools are going. With parents behind schools and becoming more involved in decision making, it "helps make schools not just good, but excellent," said Towner.

Dale named new finance director

James S. Dale has been appointed director of finance for the city of Arcadia, announces City Manager George Watts.

Dale, who holds a Bachelor of Science degree from Cal State University, Los Angeles, has been finance director/treasurer for Claremont for the past six years, and, prior to that time, he served in various capacities in Laguna Beach, Garden Grove and El Monte.

He brings with him 17 years of municipal finance experience encompassing all areas of financial activity, explains Watts.

FABRICS OF SILK AND WOOL COMBINED

Many fabrics are produced by combining silk and wool. This gives us the fine qualities of both. Beautiful drape for soft lines, good creasing abilty and fabric that holds its press well.

There are drawbacks, however, Occasionally come shrinkage develops so it is wise to be sure it won't shrink or buy the particular item large enough so a bit a shrinkage won't make it unwearable.

Button holes should not be bound for the same reason.

Wool and silk both have the quality of stretching but silk, if damp, will split or tear so allow for motion especially under the arms, across the shoulders, darts and seams and any other place where perspiration could cause trouble.

These combination fabrics should be drycleaned although some may have labels that say washable. If cared for at home be sure to set ironing temperature lower than wool as silk will be damaged at that setting.

Play it safe, bring them, to us for the best care.

Recycling update shows 30 - 40 percent participate program

A status report of Arcadia's 18-month old curbside recycling program was presented to the Arcadia City Council at last week's meeting by Peter Nadell, general manager of Newco Waste Systems, which took over local trash hauling from Best Disposal last April.

Nadell reported that only 30 - 40 percent of single family residents participate in the volunteer recycling program, which results in five percent of the city's solid waste being diverted from landfills.

He also said that 25 percent of the trash is yard waste, and that waste must be free of household contaminents, including plastic bags, before it can be diverted.

This is contrary to what residents were told when city recycling began, explained Councilman Robert Harbicht, who pointed out that citizens need to be informed to not put yard waste in plastic bags.

Harbicht also expressed a goal to convert multiple dwelling residents to the recycling program.

Though there is not much market for paper, Newco receives a modest amount of revenue from newspapers, and those papers are being diverted from landfill, according to Nadell, who explained that there is a good market for aluminum, but because of cash incentives, residents are recycling their own aluminum cans.
